

Speakers CVs

Ass Prof. Dr Evangelia Ntzani

Head of the Department of Hygiene and Epidemiology, University of Ioannina, School of Medicine, Greece

Evangelia Ntzani is a pediatrician and an epidemiologist and an Associate Professor and Head of the Department of Hygiene and Epidemiology, University of Ioannina, School of Medicine, Greece. She also holds an adjunct position in the Center for Research Synthesis in Health at the Brown University School of Public Health, Brown University, USA. Dr Ntzani is coordinator and investigator in grants on research methodology, evidence assessment, environmental epidemiology, genetic epidemiology of complex diseases and motivating behavior change across diverse areas. Her research interests yielding publications of more than 7,000 citations include evidence-based medicine, assessment of large-scale clinical and molecular information, clinical and molecular epidemiology, and research methodology and bias.