

Speakers CVs

Professor Dr Filippos K. Triposkiadis

Director of the Department of Cardiology of the Larissa University Hospital

Dr. Triposkiadis is Professor of Cardiology of the University of Thessaly and Director of the Department of Cardiology of the Larissa University Hospital. He has also served as Chairman of the Internal Medicine Sector of the University of Thessaly and Chief Medical Officer of the Larissa University Hospital. Dr. Triposkiadis is a member of several national and international scientific societies including the European Society of Cardiology, the American College of Cardiology, the Heart Failure Association (HFA) of the European Society of Cardiology (Fellow) and Vice president of the Hellenic Society for the Study and Research of Heart Failure. Dr. Triposkiadis is nationally and internationally known for his research work on the physiology and pathophysiology of the left atrium, the significance of comorbidities in heart failure, the pathophysiology and management of heart failure, the sympathetic nervous system, and the physiological significance as well as the clinical implications of the derangements of the left ventricular ejection fraction. He has served as a member in HFA guideline committees and is the editor of one Textbook of Cardiology (two editions, Athens 2003 and Athens 2016) which has been adopted by several Hellenic Medical Schools and co-editor of one Textbook on Diabetes-Heart-Vessels (Athens 2010).

Cardiology. He is board member of the British Atherosclerosis Society and one of the founders of the Scientists of Tomorrow of the ESC's council on Basic Cardiovascular Science.